Odds and Ends.

—The weapon that no enemy can parry is a bold spirit.
—The duty of the happy is to help the suffering to bear their woe.

—There never was a hypocrite so disguised, but he had yet some mark or other to be known by.

—People often want something taken away to make them agreeable, than something to be added.

—Silence is the safest response for all the contradiction that arises from impertinence, vulgarity or envy.

—We cannot love without imitating, and we are as proud of the loss of our originality as of our freedom.

—Calculation, the first sole attribute of reason, should never render us incapable of the first virtue—a sacrifice of self.

—Our companions please us less from the charms we find in their conversation, than from those they find in ours.

—Ambition is just as valid a proof of a strong and sound mind, as gormandizing is of a strong and sound body.

—Many have such correct ideas of things as not to be easily imposed upon, and yet are not ready at explaining them to others.

—If a cause be good, the most violent attack of its enemies will not injure it so much as an injudicious defence of it by its friends.

—There are some who write, talk and think so much about vice and virtue, that they have no time to practice either the one or the other.

From the Columbus Journal, May 23.

A Vicksburg Relic.

The nomination of Gen. Grant for President reminded one of his old soldiers, yesterday, of a relic of the old Vicksburg campaign, which he brought to this office. It is a copy of the last edition of the Vicksburg Daily Citizen, run off before the fall of that stronghold. The following is one of its items:—
"On the 17th of July, 1863, the Yankee Generalissimo, surrounded Grant—has expressed his intention of dining in Vicksburg on Saturday next, and celebrating the Fourth of July by a grand dinner, and so forth. When asked if he would invite General Johnson to join, he said, 'No! for fear there will be a row at the table.' Ulisses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is, first to catch the rabbit, etc."

The sheet bears the date of July 2, 1863, and on the fourth Grant did dine in Vicksburg. This sheet is about one and a half feet in width, by two feet in length, and is printed on the blank side of wall paper.

Anecdote of General Grant.

During the campaign of 1864 several privates were engaged in unloading barrels of "salt horse" from a transport at City Point, and were in charge of a Lieutenant of a New York Regiment, who took every occasion to show his authority. To one of his abusive remarks one of the privates made reply, whereupon the Lieutenant administered severe kicks to the offender, who offered no resistance, but continued on with his work. A short, thick set man, wearing a slouched hat, and a rather seedy officer's cloak, who had been standing by for some time, thereupon threw off his cloak and coat and proceeded to help unload the transport.

After the task was accomplished, the officer donned his coat and cloak and asked the Lieutenant, in very civil terms, his name and regiment:—
"Lieutenant—of the—New York Vols. By what authority dare you ask such a question?"

"Except your immediately to Gen. Grant, under arrest, by order of Gen. Grant, for cruelty to your men, and remember that abuse of privates is not tolerated by the present commander of the army," replied the "thick-set" officer, lighting a cigar and walking slowly away.

Strawberry Shortcake.

Can any one explain why "strawberry shortcake" appeals so strongly to the general taste? Three or four "popular" eating houses have banners, twenty feet square, hung over the centre of the street, on which is emblazoned the legend that here and only here, can the original "strawberry shortcake" be found. The strawberry is toothsome and savory, per se; but why, when subjected to the torture of flour and shortening, it should appeal so earnestly to the enthusiasm of those who eat cheap dinners, is an unsolved mystery. Let some one emblazoned on his outer walls, here are clean table cloths, fresh napkins, tidy waiters, and dishes worthy of such garniture, and he would do a service to the community. Yet would he produce no "excitement," for his announcement would fly squarely in the face of the adage as to the origin of cooks, and the American appetite clings fondly to the indigestible as something to be remembered.

IMPORTANT TO STOCK GROWERS.

Blood, Beauty, Speed, Kindness and Endurance.

YOUNG DEXTER.

Those who desire to raise first-class stock, and all lovers of good horses, are respectfully informed that the Hambletonian trotting stallion, will stand for a limited number of mares the ensuing season, at the Homestead Stock Farm, Greenwich, Washington County, N. Y.; season to commence on the 1st of May, and to end on the 1st of September. Young Dexter was bred at Chester, Orange County, N. Y., is four years old, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, stands nearly 16 hands high, and is one of the best of the get of his celebrated sire. Young Dexter is a half brother to Dexter, George Wilkes, Bruno, Brunette—all to Mountain Boy—and other well known horses. Very evidently, from his size, shape, etc., Young Dexter will not only bring gentle, fine and speedy stock, but also handsome carriage and family horses as well. It is manifestly for the benefit of stock growers that they obtain not only the best and most popular blood in the country, but also that which commands the highest prices in market, and it requires no more labor or care to raise a good colt than an inferior one. It was with the view to improve the stock of horses in Northern New York, Vermont and New Hampshire, etc., that Young Dexter was purchased by his present owner, Mr. H. C. Page, Editor of the People's Journal—the object being to benefit farmers and stock growers who are willing to undergo the care and expense necessary to the raising of good horses.

For further particulars, terms, etc., address Homestead Stock Farm, Greenwich, Washington County, N. Y.

E. G. STRATTON, superintendent.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, The St. Albans Bank, a corporation, duly incorporated by the Legislature of the State of Vermont, and located and doing business at St. Albans, in the county of Franklin, has made application to me, requesting me to issue a proclamation designating some day for the termination of the existence of said corporation; and whereas, it has been made to appear to me that two-thirds of the legal votes of the stockholders of said corporation were given in favor of said application; Now, therefore, I, Paul Dillingham, Governor of the State of Vermont, in conformity with said application, and the provisions of section eighty-six and eighty-seven of chapter eighty-nine of the General Statutes of Vermont, do hereby issue my proclamation, and declare that on the twenty-fifth day of March, A. D. 1868, the said corporation shall cease to exist as fully and with the same effect as if said charter expired by the limitation thereof.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the seal of the State to be hereunto affixed, in Executive Chamber at Waterbury, this 23rd day of September, A. D. 1867, and of the independence of the United States the 91st.
